Mirova's emerging markets platform (formerly SunFunder) is a leading debt financier for distributed solar companies in Sub-Saharan Africa. We manage three funds, with the latest being the Gigaton Strategy. This strategy aims to not only deepen our footprint in Sub-Saharan Africa's clean energy transition but also expand into new emerging markets, including in Asia and Latin America. We plan to scale up our investment in solar power with an expansion into other renewable energy sources and explore high-impact segments like e-mobility, energy efficiency, agri-energy, and storage solutions.

We are hiring an Investment Analyst to join our Nairobi-based investment team. The primary responsibility will be to collaborate with other executives on deploying debt investments for clean energy companies and projects across emerging markets. The Analyst will work alongside Investment Managers and Directors, partnering with legal, ESG, risk, compliance, and portfolio teams to responsibly grow our high-impact debt investment portfolio in existing and new markets/segments.
